Security specialists IBP-Group can help you make your business safer through the Raid-control™ crime reduction Initiative.

Raid-control™ is a police and industry partnership initiative designed to reduce the threat of commercial robbery by raising security standards in retail premises. The scheme has a proven track record of crime reduction across the country, but to join you need to be certified by the police.

To certify you have to:

- Carry out robbery awareness self-training
- Minimise cash held on the premises
- Use time-delay systems
- Use cameras
- Use equipment to make cash traceable

IBP-Group is offering its state-of-the-art products, and a police-approved Training Pack, as a one-stop solution.

And IBP gives a 5% discount on security equipment fitted to Raid-control™ certification standard.

The security systems used are undetectable, and provide valuable evidence to help police make arrests and secure convictions if a robbery takes place.

A Raid-control™ deterrent sticker is displayed at your premises to show security measures are in place to foil attempted robberies.

The scheme is supported by the British Security Industry Association, British Retail Consortium and other organisations in the security and retail sectors.
